Welcome to 117-66 127th Street, a well-kept semi-attached colonial nestled in one of South Ozone Park's most walkable and convenient pockets. This home offers three bedrooms, three bathrooms, and a full basement with its own entrance and full bath — providing excellent flexibility for extended use or future potential. The house sits on a quiet, residential block surrounded by single family homes, just minutes from everything — including Rockaway Blvd shopping, JFK Airport, schools, restaurants, houses of worship, and key transit options like the A train and local bus routes.

With a wide sidewalk and tree-lined streets, the immediate neighborhood is perfect for evening walks and daily convenience. Inside, the home is vacant and clean, ready for its next chapter. The backyard is larger than expected for the area and offers the kind of outdoor space that's tough to find in this price range. Whether you're a first-time buyer looking to settle in a great neighborhood or someone seeking long-term upside with a basement that opens new possibilities, this home delivers where it counts.
